- 0.1 point: if the competitor interrupts his performance and starts again.
- 0.1 point: if the competitor loses coordination.
- 0.1 point: if the competitor loses his balance.
- 0.1 point: if the competitor performs any disallowed movements.

- Loss of Weapon Control
 - Category 1 Loss – Minus 0.1 point
 - The competitor briefly loses control of the weapon. The weapon may or may not touch the mat or flooring or platform. If the weapon does touch the mat or flooring or platform, the contact is brief and the competitor prevents an interruption of the form by quickly regaining control.
 - Category 2 Loss – Minus 0.2 points
 - The competitor loses control of the weapon and actually drops the weapon or otherwise loses contact with the weapon for one second or more. The weapon may or may not touch the mat or flooring or platform. The competitor must interrupt their form and pick up or otherwise reacquire control of the weapon before continuing the form. The primary difference between this Category 2 Loss of Control and the Category 1 above is that the form is completely interrupted for at least one second or more.

 - The competitor loses control of the weapon and contact with the weapon, the weapon falls to or touches the mat or flooring, and any substantial part of the weapon comes to rest outside of the boundary of the area.
